Guillaume Dimanche participates in the Rencontres de la Photographie in Arles with the exhibition “Ask yourself”

From July 1st to 15th 2018
13 rue Calade – 13200 Arles

From July 1st to 15th 2018 Photographer Guillaume Dimanche presents the exhibition “Ask Yourself” as part of the Voies-Off program of the most important international photography festival: the Rencontres de la Photographie in Arles.

Extracted from various series or themes, Guillaume Dimanche presents a set of photographs that includes artistic correspondences and questions the reality of history, globalization and the different links between each subject all together. The title “Ask yourself” comes from Plastikman (Richie Hawtin)’s track and encourages to enter the intimate interiority of the spectator to discover the sense of the presented Artworks. Indeed, the photographs offer a perspective of a world in which humans are cut off from the most basic relationships. However, the exhibition proposed to create connections by juxtaposing these glances together.

“I present a set of recent photographs in the exhibition “Ask yourself” which echoes the continuation of my work. The scenography will bring a new dimension with a search on spatial installation. Through the combination of diverse subjects, on top of the compositions I created in each photograph, I propose a dialogue and a questioning of each and every one of them” explains Guillaume Dimanche.
